What is a micro -credential?

A micro-credential is a formal confirmation of learning outcomes achieved through a short learning experience, such as a course, training programme or other development activity.

It confirms specific knowledge, skills and competences that have been assessed according to clear and transparent criteria.

Key characteristics

- short and focused learning experience,
- clearly defined learning outcomes,
- assessment based on established criteria,
- possibility of sharing and transferability,
- link with quality assurance in education.

Benefits of micro -credentials at the university

Enhancing the university's competitiveness

Microcredentials enable universities to offer modern, specialised programmes that respond to the needs of the labour market

Increasing the attractiveness of studies

Students gain flexible tools for acquiring practical competences quickly and shaping their individual learning paths.

Supporting digitalisation and cooperation

Microcredentials support the digital transformation of higher education and foster cooperation between universities and the socio-economic environment

Lifelong learning

Microcredentials enable learners to adapt quickly to technological and social changes at different stages of their careers

Criteria for awarding micro -credentials

Certificate

A certificate is a micro-credential awarded as a result of achieving learning outcomes adopted for a given course or training. The criterion which determines the awarding of a certificate is the confirmation by a trainer that a participant has achieved the planned learning outcomes

A micro-credentials coordinator from a given university (MC) applies for the awarding of a certificate on the basis of the assessment of the achieved learning outcomes in accordance with the principles described in point 4. of these Rules.

Criteria for awarding micro -credentials

Badge

A badge is a micro-credential awarded for achievements in the following categories science, didactics, organizational activity.

The following individuals may apply for a badge:

- a Eunice student holding the “active student” status in a given academic year,
- a Eunic doctoral student,
- an academic teacher who wants to distinguish a student's achievement,
- a supervisor of a science club.

For this purpose, an applicant completes the "Application for badge issuance" (Attachment No.4) and submits it to the micro-credentials coordinator (MC) at a given university along with all the evidence of a candidate's achievements.

Courses and training sessions

Promotion and recruitment of participants

The promotion and recruitment of participants is managed by a course coordinator and communication officers in Eunice

Eunice EUROPEAN UNIVERSITY

Courses and training sessions

Conducting training or a course

The appropriate level of didactic quality and the way training is conducted is supervised by a trainer in accordance with the adopted schedule.

A trainer is responsible for:

- confirming the presence of students during the courses,
- conducting a course in accordance with the assumptions described in the "Study Guide",
- assessing the results by verifying the assumed learning outcomes using a method indicated in the "Study Guide",
- preparing the "Certificate Supplement" (Attachment No. 2) and "Application for certificate issuance" (Attachment No. 3) and submitting it to the micro-credentials coordinator (MC) of a given university.

Courses and training sessions

Verification of the achieved learning outcomes

The author of a course or training indicates in the "Study Guide" a method according to which the learning outcomes achieved by course participants will be verified. There may be several methods depending on the specificity of a course. This may be, e.g. a final exam, a final discussion, an assessment of a specific conceptual or design solution. The selection of a method of assessing learning outcomes is decided by the author of a course or training.

Preparation and issuance of a micro -credential

STEP 1

Provision of information necessary to generate a micro-credential

After completing a course or training, a trainer provides the micro-credentials coordinator (MC) with a completed "Application for certificate issuance" (Attachment No. 3) or "Application for badge issuance" (Attachment No. 4). The micro-credentials coordinator (MC) verifies the comprehensiveness of the data, completes the information about the persons signing the micro-credentials in accordance with the principles adopted in Eunice and forwards the application to the Eunice Micro-credentials Office (EMO).

STEP 2

Generating a micro-credential

The Eunice Micro-credentials Office (EMO) generates certificates or badges according to the information provided from the micro-credentials coordinator (MC) in the “Application for certificate issuance” or “Application for badge issuance”.
